Met me a gal with a fortified grip
A 2-inch nose and 10-cent hips
"If anybody gives you trouble, give me a call"

Say, I've been married twice before
I don't go looking for trouble anymore
Follows me around like them dog-eating ticks

She really knew how to talk
Bought me a beer and taught me a lot
About all the things you see as a woman

Well, one thing turned to another
Our clothes were flying in a clutter
Think they'd name the next hurricane after me

Slow now man, see here's the thing
I don't do that stuff till I see a ring
It's not every day you meet a strong man like you

So, I got down on my only knee
Though she's the third woman I'd have to marry
But there's something special about this girl I know

Well, she wore white and I chose blue
Walked down the aisle, said I do
Mosied back to her place before too long

Now we're wall to wall and floor to floor
It's the night I've been waiting for
When I reached my hand down in to neverland

Well there's something squirming down below
A rattle snake where rabbits go
Imagine my surprise when she said

"One more thing, dear, if you please
If I tuck this thing between my cheeks
It ain't all too unlike the original thing"

Well, that my shake a lesser breed
Of have baked men, but it won't faze me
See, I love this lady all the same

When it comes to guys I like to cry
When I comes to wine, I like it dry/white
More than that, I like to take my time

So, lay down dear, it's time you see
The man I am between my knees
You might say I saved God a little time

Now we make a mighty fine pair
Cause She does nails and I do hair
Now we ruffle feathers, just for kicks
